Guilbeau sentenced to 20 years, free on $350,000 appeal bond

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Hancock County residents Virginia Guilbeau and Gregory Ladner face prison sentences of 15. and 20 years respectively due to recent convictions for possession of marijuana with the intent to distribute.

Circuit Judge Kosta Vlahos sentenced Guilbeau to 20 years with the Mississippi Department of Corrections but suspended five years from the sentence.

Ladner, who is currently being housed in the Hancock County Jail, was sentenced to 25 years, with five years suspended. In addition to the prison sentences, Vlahos fined Guilbeau $150,000 and Ladner $25,000. Another defendant in the case, Lozardo Raoul Rojas, was sentenced to 15 years with five years suspended and a $5,000 fine.

Rojas, who has been imprisoned since his March 1984 arrest, is also being kept in the county jail.

All three defendants were arrested last year following a seizure of 5,100 pounds of marijuana at the Guilbeau residence on Fire Tower Road in Kiln.

Immediately following sentencing, Judge Vlahos denied a request by Gulibeau's attorneys James

Dukes and William Dukes for a re-

Guilbeau was released late Friday afternoon on a $350,000 appeal bond. Prior to sentencing, District Attorney Cono Caranna called Guilbeau to the witness stand to answer questions concerning her financial status.

From a statement submitted by Guilbeau, Caranna read that Guilbeau claimed $750 as the total amount of support she receives per Guilbeau added that she also received compensation for renting a cottage located near her residence.

Caranna questioned Guilbeau extensively on how she was able to maintain a $250,000 residence, two Lincoln Continentals, and an extravagant lifestyle evidenced by expensive furs, jewelry and furniture. He presented evidence of two monthly bank payments which Guilbeau owed, amounting to nearly $700.

Further questioning revealed that utility and phone bills totaled nearly $300 per month.

Caranna asked Guilbeau in view of her bills each month how could she survive on $750.

during this Holy Week. James Dukes said that the defendants deserved some credit for their cooperation with law enforcement agents immediately following their arrests.

He also said the integrity of the state of Mississippi and the United States government was being questioned here because of promises that had been made to the defendants to secure cooperation.

Hancock Chamber launches voter registration drive

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is encouraging people to register to vote in the upcoming Bay

St. Louis elections. The chamber urges all businesses to allow their employees time off from work to register. "Hancock Bank, a chamber member, has already initiated this program, and it has proven very successful," said John Mason; chamber president.

"The chamber will also be contacting local organizations to encourage their members to register," he continued.

The last day to register to vote in the primary election is Saturday, Apr. 13. Deadline for registering to vote in the general election is May 4: The Democratic Primary Election has been set for May 14, while the run-off, if necessary, will be held May 21. The general election for all offices will be Tuesday, June 4.

"Young people who will become 18 years of age prior to the election date should be sure to register," according to John Scafide, chamber legislative chairman.

The chamber also will be sponsoring a political forum prior to the upcoming election of mayor and councilmen in Bay St. Louis. The date, time and place will be announced later. Purpose of the forum is to allow the public an opportunity to hear all the candidates, according to Scafide. Persons who have been residents of Bay St. Louis for 30 days are eligible to register at the Hancock County Circuit clerk's office in the Hancock County Courthouse, Main Street, Bay St. Louis, or the Bay St. Louis City Hall on Second Street.

Millage error discovered, funds short

BY DENA BISNETTE

A shortage in funding for the Hancock County School District has resulted from a miscalculation in this year's county millage rates.

According to Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, the school district's millage rate is about two mills lower than it should be.

As a result, a $95,000 shortage in tax-raised funds for the school district is expected during the current fiscal year.

Necaise said the county will have to raise next year's millage to avoid repeating the problem, but said the anticipated increase will affect the school district only and will probably amount to only a few dollars per household.

For now, the $95,000 will have to be made up from other sources, Necaise said Friday.

He said state law requires that a school district receive at least the same assessed valuation as the previous year. Last year's was Necaise said he was unaware of the problem until he received a copy of a March 7 letter from the State Department of Education to Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph.

The letter said that comparisons of the district's actual assessed n and tax levy for the 1983-84 and 1984-85 school years had revealed the possible shortage.

Necaise said the county must provide the $95,000 by the end of the close. The supervisors have tried to hold taxes down as much as possible and the budget doesn't contain a lotof extras."

He said he expects the millage error to affect other funds but said school funding is the only area where the law prohibits trimming the county budget.

According to Necaise, the error occurred because in figuring millage his office failed to compensate for losses in revenue under Homestead Exemption laws.

These lesses had amounted to $5 to $6 million in previous years but increased as a result of reappraisal, which changed the assessed value of property in the county.

'We were supposed to have found out how much more Homestead Exemption we would lose and figure it into additional millage," the clerk explained. He said the millage was figured according to a formula used in the past, when 10 percent was added to the previous year's millage.

When reappraisal took effect this year and the assessment doubled, however, taxpayers received larger exemptions and the formula became inaccurate.

"The taxpayers were supposed to receive a break, with exemptions going from $5,000 to $7,500," Necaise

"However, when the county has to go and add millage to compensate for that break, the taxpayer still ends up paying. What's the point of changing the exemptions in the first place?" he commented.

The clerk said the assessed valuation for the school district under reappraisal was $66 million, with $11 million lost to Homestead Exemp-

One of Hamilton's puppets, Sammy the Smiling Snake, has entertained some of the elementary school visitors to the MEC as well as guests at one of last year's GCRL Year of the Ocean program, Salty the Sea Dog, another of. Hamilton's creations, will be featured in a videotape being produced to show MEC visitors how fish and other marine creatures are obtained for the Center.

In addition, three members of the Young Volunteers in Action program administered by the City of Biloxi under the direction of Scottie Maddox-have joined with Hamilton. to form an MEC puppet team.

Since August, Bill Gemeiner of St. Martin High School and Cathrina Coble and Donna Westphal of Ocean Springs High School have met basic puppetry skills.

The team has written an original five-minute three-act play entitled, "Once Upon a Fish Tale" which showcases seven major and six minor characters. They developed the story line and personalities, created a suitable puppet for each role, designed backdrops and recorded a sound track to accompany the play.

"Salty the Sea Dog and I facilitate the program, but these young people and their puppets are the stars," Hamilton said.

The puppet team plans public performances later this spring which will be dedicated to Matthew Mitchell, an MEC youth volunteer from Harrison Central High School who was killed in an automobile accident last fall.

Hamilton also hopes to utilize puppets in educational programs being designed for elementary school. students by MEC education specialists. Modules are being planned on particular topics, such as snakes and sea stars, which include puppet performance, quizzes, games and puzzles to supplement educational materials and a bibliography prepared for the teacher's use.

"Puppets will reinforce information about the topic when students visit the MEC," Hamilton points out. "Hopefully, students will be able to recall what the puppet told them when they return to the classroom to explore that particular topic with their teacher?

The future of puppets at the Marine Education Center? "The potential is unlimited," Hamilton suggests. "However, time and money are limited, so we'll have to evaluate which of these programs makes the most effective use of the puppets and we'll go forward from Fiscal experts are projecting tax increases of some $97 million over the next two years in Mississippi, That $97 million, combined with the $77.6 million in new taxes this year and the $60 million taxes imposed by the Legislature in 1984, means a total of more than $234 million in new taxes for Mississippi in a fouryear period.

Legislators, unwilling to make critical choices relative to the state budget, seem to have forgotten that Mississippians are among the most heavily burdened taxpayers in the southern states.

A taxpayer's revolt may be just. around the corner, and such a revolution-which could be carried out at the ballot box, may be justified.

The alternative, of course, is for legislators and other state and local officials to face up to the task of reducing the size of government and requiring maximum use of every tax

National humane group seeking help to stop Mississippi dogfighting

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following Action Alert' has been issued by the Humane Society of The United States headquartered at 2100 L St., NW, Washington, D.C., 20037.

March 18, 1985 Dear Mississippi Friend:

Because of your deep concern for animals, we are taking the liberty of asking for your assistance. We need your help to obtain adequate funding and enforcement of the federal Animal Welfare Act (AWA).

This help is especially crucial at this time due to the growing popularity of the barbaric activity of dogfighting in Mississippi.

This activity is increasing in your state because of the large number of out-of-state dogfighters coming into the state to "pit" their dogs in cruel and deadly combat.

We know for a fact that dogfighters are crossing lines into Mississippi from Alabama and Loui-

An example of this was recently exposed when the Adams County Sheriff's Department raided a dogfight outside of Natchez on Feb.

Approximately half the persons arrested at this raid were from the neighboring state of Louisiana and several had brought dogs into tion of the AWA and violators can receive a penalty of up to one year in iail and/or $5,000 fine.

Unfortunately, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), the agency responsible for enforcing the AWA, has rarely expressed an interest in enforcing AWA laws against animal fighting.

In fact, USDA has never requested the appropriate funds to enforce this portion of the AWA.

As a consequence, the dogfighters arrested in Natchez only had to pay a mere $100 fine and avoided federal prosecution.

To stop Mississippi from being a haven for dogfighters, strong action must be taken by USDA to preclude dogfighters from coming into Mississippi and then escaping with virtual impunity.

The only watchdog over USDA is Congress, and specifically the Senate and House Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture.

Fortunately, the chairmen of these two subcommittees are both from Mississippi-Senator Thad Cochran and Representative Jamie Whitten. In addition Senator John Stennis of Mississippi is a member of the Senate subcommittee.

Accordingly, it would be extremely helpful for you to write your U.S. Senators and Representative Whitten and let them know that USDA's lax enforcement of the AWA and USDA's failure to request an adequate budget for the enforcement of the AWA is making Mississippi the dogfighting capitol of the South.

As the editor of the Jackson Daily News exclaimed, "Mississippians should be horrified the state is being used as an arena for the cruel, inhumane 'sport' of dogfighting." FACTS ON DOGFIGHTING

1. What is Dogfighting?

Dogfighting is a sadistic "contest" in which two dogs, specifically bred and trained to fight to the death, are placed into a "pit" and encouraged to attack and maul each other. This event is presented to cheering spectators for their base enjoyment and greed.

2. Why is this Cruelty of Animals? These contests torture and harass the animals which are forced to fight, causing acute suffering and pain, American Pit Bull Terriers have extremely powerful jaw muscles and take hold with their front teeth while they chew away with their rear teeth. This produces severe bruising, as well as deep and straight cuts resembling knife and puncture wounds.

Frequently the only sounds from the pit are those of crunching bones and cartilage.

A pit bull, carefully bred for atgressiveness, will usually continue to try to fight until it passes out or dies. Sometimes it takes two hours for this savagery to reach a decisive conclusion. In addition the dogs are often trained and conditioned to fight by encouraging them to kill smaller animals, such as cats or other small dogs, in order to develop a thirst for blood.

3. Are there concerns other than animal cruelty?

Yes. As has been clearly shown at the numerous raids across the country, this "sport" has several disturbing facets associated with it: -Young children are often encouraged to watch and participate which makes them insensitive to animal cruelty and promotes an enthusiasm for violence while at the same time developing a lack of respect for the law.

-Illegal gambling is the norm. Other than the enjoyment of watching the animals main and injure each other, thousands of dollars exchange hands when the fighters and spectators wager large sums on favorite -Firearms and other weapons are quite common because of the large sums of money present.

—The sale and use of illegal drugs is common. -Pet animals are sometimes stolen by dogfighters to be used as training fodder for their fighting

While there has always been a problem with funding for the AWA on animal fighting ventures; this year presents a special problem, since the Administration has decided to provide no money for any animal welfare program administered by USDA.

The proposed elimination of all funding simply means this pinless the House and Senate Appropriations Committees restores funding USDA will no longers over a care of millions -ole millions to the millions of the millions over the case of the case of the case over and circuses. In fact

Fifty percent divorce rate contributes to crime and poverty

The Sea Coast Echo Bay St. Louis

To the Editor, We can read every day in most newspapers about the increase in crime, the decline in educational standards, war and poverty. These are indeed serious problems, but many of our problems are caused by a breakdown of an institution called

"family." The fact that many couples live together, without being married, is not the major problem. These people choose to live this way, and that is something they alone must deal with in their own conscience. The big problem is people who choose to get married, but do not strive to live by their marriage

This can be attested to by the fact that the divorce rate is somewhere in the vicinity of 50 percent.

The breakup of a family causes more problems for the children than for either parent A broken home will many times lead the children into a life of crime for many obvious reasons. · The answer to this problem is simple: if people would hold sacred the marriage vows they took, divorce would be almost nonexistent.

Pass mayor answers critics of annexation

Pass Christian Mayor Gordon Bishop Tuesday night answered criticisms of the city's annexation

Gerald Roux, a member of the Henderson Point-Pass Christian Isles Civic League, which opposes the city's efforts to extend its boundaries to include these areas to the west; along with land lying to the north of the city, had announced plans to present to the mayor and aldermen Tuesday night petitions signed by several hundred city residents.

The petitions call for a vote on the annexation to be held in conjunction with upcoming citywide elections for mayor and aldermen.

But Bishop last week had said that the city would not receive the documents, and that no non-resident of the city wishing to address the issue of annexation would be considered for placement on the meeting's agenda.

Reading from a typewritten statement-copies of which were made available to the public-Bishop said the city "has been subjected to a great deal of unwarranted senseless and inflamatory criticism."

Bishop said he believed the city "should address these irresponsible statements, even though we are most reluctant to dignify such material."

He made the following points: -Public records show that statements indicating that the city was acting without proper notice to the affected area are completely false. He cited references to annexation made during city council and planning commission meetings going back to early 1981, before the current administration took office, and noted instances where the matter had been discussed up to the pre-

-References to the city's indebtedness to the Housing and Urban Development Department for the existing wastewater plant and collection system have been blown out of perspective. He said the current city administration has negotiated a proposed settlement of this indebtedness which includes a forgiveness of about $600,000 and which reschedules the payments. This document has been approved by HUD in Washington and is now before-the Justice Department for review and approval, Bishop said funds have been set aside in accordance with instructions from HUD, and the money is available for payment when requested.

-The citizens of Pass Christian currently are paying for the "happy, satisfied and compatible community" which the residents of the outlying areas enjoy. Fire protection and some police service are provided by the city to these outside residents at no cost to them.

The annexation will not increase the taxes inside Pass Christian but will increase taxes in the annexed area to the extent currently paid by city residents.

The allegations against the various city departments are unfair and untrue, and that statements made about the city's planning commission border on slander. He said the commission members have nothing to gain by their recommendation that the city expand its boun-

Water and sewerage are major topics in the annexation issues, and while the city of Pass Christian may be willing to provide these services when the outlying areas are annexed, for now the rule of order seems to be no more hookups.

By a vote of four to one, the city denied a request Tuesday night from Derek Breerwood that he be provided water for a house he has just built at 716 Fort Henry Avenue, Henderson Point. A city water main is 14 inches from the house's waterline.

Ward 2 Alderman Ted Lawyer said the city would be defeating its purpose of annexation if it reinstituted the policy of allowing water and sewerage connections to properties just outside the city

John Simpson, alderman of Ward which is adjacent to Henderson Point, cast the lone vote in favor of allowing the hookup by Breerwood.

In a related matter, the board amended its agreement with the Harrison County Wastewater District; extending the lease period of wastewater treatment facilities from 35 years to 50 years at a rate of

Wastewater district to bid lagoon work

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control has given the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District permission to obtain bids on preparations for a proposed linkage of the Bay St. Louis and Waveland sewage systems.

The wastewater board approved advertising for bids for the first segment of the project Wednesday. The bid opening will be May 15.

Advertising for the bids had been delayed in order to wait for the results of tests on Edwards Bayou taken in September by U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and BPC personnel, according to District Administrator Ethel Schott.

According to Barry Royals, BPC public relations director, the tests indicated that Edwards Bayou will be an acceptable discharge point for treated wastewater from both cities if certain improvements are made at Waveland's existing wastewater treatment plant.

Edwards presently receives only the discharge from the Waveland plant. The discharge point for the Bay St. Louis lagoon system is Watts

Port and Harbor Commission Mon-

The required improvements will allow the plant to handle a greater volume of incoming sewage and are scheduled for a later segment of the project, Royals said.

The first segment of the project does not include the actual linkage, but will improve the existing Bay St. Louis sewage lagoon and provide the junction for the proposed linkage with the Waveland wastewater treatment plant. Lagoon improvements will include the installation of additional circulation lines around the lagoon's edge as well as pumps designed to change the direction of sewage-flow.

In addition, an office and utility building will be constructed.

Schott said 75 percent of the cost of the project will be paid through a $400,000 EPA grant, with the remaining 25 percent to be paid out of local funds.

The district is presently trying to obtain funding for the second segment, while the third segment is still in design stages.

Hancock board to select architect for addition

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School District is expected to act on the selection of an architect for six additional classrooms at Gulfview Elementary School within the next two weeks.

The board heard briefly from one architect Monday night and expects to hear from others at a special meeting to be called next week, board president Billie Faye Lyons said.

Topics to be addressed at that meeting are presently limited to the. Gulfview addition, a long-range building program for the district and a possible change of date for Hancock North Central High School's graduation.

Even if immediate action on either the Gulfview addition or the longrange plan is taken at the meeting, none of the additional facilities can be completed in time for the beginning of the 1985-86 school year, Superintendent Terrell Randolph

The six classrooms are among the most badly needed new facilities proposed for the district and will house kindergarten classes, the superintendent added.

The classrooms were originally expected to be designed by Fred Wagner, but Wagner told the board in February that he would charge a fee higher than the six percent of total cost which is allowed for projects with state funding.

The board has heard from several architects interested in doing the project for six percent and will invite them to address the meeting as soon as a date has been set.

While the board expects to choose an architect for the Gulfview addition, action on the long-range plan will probably be confined to deciding what parts of the plan will actually. be used.

When last discussed by the board. the plan included additions and renovations to all of the district's schools as well as other alternatives, Randolph said.

Randolph said that the district will have to handle at least 200 new students when state-mandated kindergartens in addition to the district's annual projected growth rate of 10 percent.

In addition, the board will have to decide when to move the Hancock North Central High School graduation, currently scheduled for June 7, back to May 31, its original date.

Lyons said she has received numerous complaints from parents because invitations with the original date had already been purchased and printed.

In other business, the board voted to extend 1985-86 contracts to all certified teachers currently employed by the district.

Lists of teachers were publicly read and board members abstained from voting for those to whom they are related within the third degree. Coaches were approved for teaching duties only because coaching duties are handled under separate contracts. Also on Monday, the board approved hiring several employees for the current school year in addition to several travel requests from staff members attending conferences.

Supervisors, commission to meet on Bergeron lease

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Port and Harbor Commission will meet Monday to try to iron out problems with a proposed lease of the former Bergeron Marine site.

Two former Bergeron employees want to use the 40-acre site at Port Bienville Industrial Park for barge repair work.

However, there is now some controversy over a county-approved commission decision stating that an option for lease on the property was to be given to whoever bought Bergeron's leasehold improvements when the bankrupt firm's property was sold at auction March 26.

The commission is prepared to lease the property to Ryan Marine, Port and Harbor Director James DeBlanc told the board Monday.

Ryan Marine is headed by Ralph Ryan, a former Bergeron employee. The firm reportedly purchased $20,500 in Bergeron equipment.

However, Joseph Gex, attorney for former Bergeron employee Ira Michel, contends that his client purchased $1,300 in old Bergeron equipment and that neither firm actually purchased the leasehold improvements.

When the commission made its decision last month, the improvements were defined as consisting of any equipment that could not be removed from the property.

Buildings were excluded because they were forfieted by the banks involved and were placed under commission control.

Millage.....

School millage was expected to raise $849,000 this fiscal year, which ends in September.

Necaise said about $125,000 of that funding could have been made up through an escrow account set up under the laws governing reappraisal, but the county has had to use that money to purchase the McDonald Furniture building for the tax assessor's office. "The building became available at a good price and we were in a position where we had to buy it because of the needs of the county," he explained.

He also said that the county made arrangements to buy the building several weeks before he received any information about a possibile shortage in school funds.

Necaise said he does not expect to run into similar problems next year because the county will have more definite figures to work with when preparing its budget and setting millage.

In addition, he hopes the state legislature will take some sort of action regarding reappraisal, which he feels penalizes the taxpayers in counties where new property valuations have taken effect.

"Reappraisal was confusing and what has happened to us is happening to other counties too. It didn't raise the assessed valuation of the county as much as it was supposed to and it doubled the homeowners' taxes when they were supposed to get a break," he commented.

He also said effects are inconsistent, because many of the state's 82 counties have not completed reap-

"The tax burden for this is falling on the people of the counties where reappraisal has been completed," the clerk added.

Coupon a variation of Treasury Bond

By Bonita S. Bridges Management Specialist Extension Service

Zero Coupon Treasuries are based on the same concept as World War II Bonds -funds sold for $18.75 in exchange for an IOU worth $25 in 10

A Zero Coupon Treasury is a variation of a U.S. Treasury bond. It pays interest only at maturity and is purchased at a discount. The discount price is based on the length of time to maturity and prevailing interest rate.

An investment of $1,676.09 will yield $7,000 in May, 1997 with a yield of 11.60 percent. (Price quote Mar. 5,

"Zero Coupon Treasuries for Individual Retirement Account's are a viable option because you should not gamble with retirement money. With Zero Treasuries, you know how much it will mature on at exact date locking in the yield," said Kelley Walton, Investment Executive for Paine Webber Investment Firm.

Zero Coupon Treasuries have several advantages. Ownership is evident in an obligation to the United States. Therefore, it provides greater safety than any other zero coupon security. Investors know exactly what they will receive. The state yield is locked in until maturi-

Zero Coupon Treasuries are available at brokerage firms. Investors can buy this type of selfdirected IRA and forget about it until the maturity date.

Maturities currently span from 1984-2014. Investors can invest small or large amounts. For example, CAT, a financial product created from U.S. Bond can be purchased for $375 to mature to $1,000 in 1993 at 11.60 precent yield. (Price quote Mar. 5, 1985)

There is an active secondary market. Remember there is a penalty if any IRA money is withdrawn before reaching age 59½. Taxes must be paid on the amount withdrawn and the market price may be lower than the purchase price.

Investors have until Mar. 15 to make an IRA Investment of $2,000 or $2,250 for spousal IRA. Investment for the current year can be made any time after Jan. 1. Early investment will generate the maximum tax deferred growth.

Over a 30-year period, the investor who waited until Apr. 15 each year to invest $2,000 in an IRA yielding 10 percent annually will earn $42,000 less than a person making the same investment 15 months earlier.

IRA's should be viewed as a part. of an overall investment portfolio and retirement plan.

The Zero Coupon has become popular. As a result many kinds of fixed income investments are being issued with Zero Coupon alterAtonement was Christ's supreme act of charity for the world, performed by Jesus out of his great The First Presidency of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has issued the following message for Easter 1985; "We rejoice this Easter season at the resurrection of our Lord and

Jesus Christ, made for us. The mise of everlasting life He has given to all humankind. "Just as the earth blossoms anew each spring after the dead of winter, so the Savior of the world, through us new life after our earthly death. "We encourage men and women throughout the world to contemplate the life and example of the Savior, to incorporate His teachings into their lives, and to teach their families about Him.

His great atoning sacrifice, assured

Savior, Jesus Christ, and the pro-

"Within His teachings and His life lie the answers to every problem which confronts humankind. War, hunger, family strife, despair, and all sorrows could be remedied if the world would turn to His example. Only as we look to the Prince of Peace will we find true peace as individuals, as families, and as members of the world community.

"We testify that Jesus the Christ is indeed the Son of God, the Savior of the world. It is our prayer that His teachings and life will bring peace to a troubled world."

This message is from President Spence W. Kimball, world leader of the church, and his councelors in the First Presidency, Presidents Marion G. Romney and Gordon B.

"He is risen; He is not here." Mark 16:6

JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY

These words, eloquent in their simplicity, announced the most significant event of recorded history, the resurrection of the Lord Jesus -an event so extraordinary that even the Apostles, who had been most intimately associated with Jesus in His early ministry and who had been carefully taught of the coming event, had difficulty grasping the reality of its full significance. The first accounts which reached their ears "seemed to them as idle tales, Luke 24:11, as well they might. for millions of men had lived and died before that day. In every hill and dale men's bodies mouldered in the dust. but until that first Easter morning not one had risen from the grave.

When we speak of Jesus being resurrected, we mean that His premortal spirit, which animated His mortal body from His birth in the manger until He died on the cross, reentered that body; and the two, His spirit body and His physical body, inseparably welded together, arose from the tomb an immortal

Our belief is, and we so testify, that Jesus not only conquered death for Himself and brought forth His own glorious resurrected body, but that is doing He also brought about a universal resurrection. This was the end and purpose of the mission for which he was set apart and ordained in the great council in heaven, when He was chosen to be our Savior and Redeemer.

May we all at this Easter time of year, strive for more harmony in our homes and more peace in our hearts as we go about our Father's

GI insurance holders to share dividends

The 22,836 Mississippi veterans who have kept their GI life insurance policies in force will share in an annual divided distribution that, for the year 1985, will total a record $5.4 million."

Samuel J.-Maraman, Jackson Veterans Administration office director, said the record high divident was made possible because of lower death rates amongpolicyholders and high interest earnings on the insurance founds' in-

No application for the annual dividend is needed, Maraman stressed. Each policyholder will receive the dividend in the month of the anniversary date of the individual policy. Payments will be made in the manner selected previously by the policyholder. Choices range from cash to the purchase of paid-up in-

Government life insurance has been issued through various periods starting Jan. 1, 1919, through May 2, 1966, to veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean Conflict.

The only VA-administered program now open to new issues is Service Disabled Veterans Insurance. It is available, without dividends, to veterans with service on or after April 25, 1951, who have a serviceconnected disability.

Not affected by the dividend payout are Vietnam Era veterans and post-Vietnam Era veterans who fall under different life insurance progams. They are the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance,

The increasing number of elderly nationwide has focused much attention on the needs of this growing group. However, in Mississippi the number of people age 65 and up is estimated to have decreased from 289,357 in 1980 to 281,963 in 1985.

The 1985 figure is about 11 percent of the state's total 2,251,000 population. The number of elderly will not be above the 1980 level until the year 2005. The projections are based on research done at the Research and Development Center in Jackson.

The projected decrease continues through 1995 with an estimated number of elderly at 276,548. The number increases in the year 2000 to 289,194 and in 2005 the projected number is 293,067. In 2010, the last year at which a projected is made, the estimate is 308,877.

Reasons for the decrease in the number of Mississippi elderly include a big drop in the population aged zero to five years from 1905 to 1915, according to Carol L. Mead, an economic analyst at the Research and Development Center.

"The mortality rate of this age group was also high at that time and through 1940," Ms. Mead said.

These two factors combined. create a lower number of people aged 65 and above. People born in 1905 would be 80 years old this year. People age 65 this year were born in Another reason for a lower number of elderly in the state is a large out-migration of young adults of child-bearing age, primarily blacks, during World Wars I and II, according to Dr. Charles Longino, a demographer at the University of Miami, Fla.

"If these people had stayed, they would be among the elderly now. They left to take factory jobs for the war effort and stayed after the war. They had children who also stayed up north so some of two generations are not in the Mississippi populations," Longino said.

In addition to differences in population trends, Mississippi's elderly also vary in income, education and geographic distribution trends from the country's elderly. Figures are from the 1980 census. Geographic Distribution

It follows that with a smaller number of elderly in the state, the geographic distribution of the elderly-will also differ from the country as a whole.

r ood experts slam double tax

Food industry experts recently testified before a joint Senate Finance and House Ways and Means Commiteee against a proposed double tax on soft drinks. In their testimony they did not object to a teacher pay raise or a broad based tax to finance the raise.

George Robert Hall, president of Merchants Co., Hattiesburg, made a strong plea to the committee members.

"Soft drinks are a food item. This. tax is unfair and discriminatory, because 80 percent of all soft drinks; are sold through food stores. A large percentage of these will be purchased with food stamps, a cruel and harsh burden on the young, the poor and large families, especially those least able to pay—low income black and white households," Hall said.

Dr. Richard Vreeland, professor of marketing, said that black households at or under the poverty level consume twice as much soft drinks as other households.

"Therefore, black households will bear a disproportionate share, making this an extremely regressive tax," he said.

Vreeland further added, "Selective discriminatory taxation singling out one business or industry and its consumers, has proven in every case to be a disincentive to business growth and economic development in this state."

Similar proposals have been considered and repeatedly rejected in. the past by the Mississippi Legislature, and special taxes on soft drinks have been repealed in the states of Kentucky, Ohio and Penn-
